Preface

Teacher Education refers to the policies and procedures designed to equip prospective teachers with the knowledge, attitude, behaviours and skills required to perform their task effectively in the classroom, school and wider community. Teachers' quality is crucial and has been globally accepted to be significantly associated with the quality of students in general and students' learning outcomes in particular. In this context, reforming the policies and procedures of teacher education become inevitable. To make the teacher education programmes vibrant and in response to the emerging demands from the society, it is necessary that a 'paradigm shift' be made in the field of teacher education. The aim of teacher education must therefore be to make a teacher tactful, resourceful, highly educated and disciplined who can cope with the changing situations.

The two year M.Ed. curriculum is designed to provide opportunities for student teachers to extend as well as deepen their knowledge and understanding of education, specialize in select areas, and also develop research capacities leading to specializations in elementary, secondary and senior secondary education.

The present revision emphasizes field based experiences to the prospective teachers at various sectors of teacher education. A significant step in the revised curriculum is the thrust given for process based classroom procedures and reflective sessions through guided discovery, which are based on competency based performance indicators. The curriculum also introduces a variety of courses like Comparative Education, ICT and Skill Development, Quality Assurance in Education and Material and Instructional Design.

The course is designed in such a way as to equip student teachers with hands on experience in their field of specialization. It is expected that this will prove helpful to the prospective teachers in integrating theory and practice. Extensive effort has been taken in preparing the curriculum. Utmost care was taken to prevent any time lag in the conduct of the two year programme.

This work is the result of the combined discourses carried out among very eminent resource persons, senior members in the field of teacher education, and teacher educators from various institutions. The process of curriculum revision became possible through detailed planning, decision making and whole hearted support given by the stakeholders in the field of teacher education. I express my sincere gratitude to Hon'ble Vice -Chancellor Dr. Babu Sebastian and Pro Vice -Chancellor Dr. Sheena Shukkur for their whole hearted support and guidance. I am grateful to Prof.(Dr.)A. Sukumaran Nair, Chairman, Kerala State Education Advisory Board and former Vice-Chancellor of Mahatma Gandhi University for his constructive suggestions. Introduction

Quality has become the defining element in 21st century in the context of fast changing world scenario and emergence of new social realities. Due to the impact of globalization on technological revolution, the world education scenario is changing so fast that only a system of education which is dynamic, futuristic and adjusting to the demands of time will exist and compete in the global market. Quality to teacher education envisages the teacher educator's role as knowledge worker, consultant and counselor to create a learning society and sustainable teacher folk. Teachers are the greatest assets of any educational system and they stand in the interface of the transmission of knowledge, skills and values. They are accepted as the backbone of the education system. Teachers quality is therefore, crucial and has been globally accepted to be significantly associated with the quality of education in general and students learning outcomes in particular.

Teacher education institutions have a special role in shaping leaders capable of creating, disseminating and transforming knowledge to society for more ethical and secure lives. Looking at the current scenario of teacher education across the country and its deteriorating plight, quality management seems to be the pressing need of the hour. Our nation demands a regeneration of qualified and dedicated teachers with academic potentialities for developing new generation with strong values and visions.

Some suggestions for improving quality in teacher education are

- updating the curriculum with the changing times and needs of the society
- developing frontline curriculum strategies for all types of teacher education programmes
- developing communication skills and language proficiency among the teachers
- developing an understanding of the impact of forces like liberalization, privatization, globalization and developments in the field of information and communication technology and education
- developing resourcefulness to use locally available resources
- making proper understanding of modern techniques of evaluation
- planning and organising all the components of teacher training courses effectively.

Teachers need to be looked at as crucial mediating agents through whom curriculum is to be transacted. Teaching is one of the most respected profession and the roles, functions, and preparation of teachers undergo changes from time to time. The role of teachers in quality teacher education includes

- improving subject knowledge, teaching skills, methods, system and ensuring students participation in the teaching-learning process.
- evaluating students performance properly, honestly and impartially.
- undertaking research, publication of papers and extension activities.
- rendering services for administration and policy making of the teacher education programmes
- developing curricular materials and conducting remedial bridge/add on courses
- organising and participating in seminars/conferences/workshops/symposia
- planning and organising consultancy services.
- developing systems, procedures and programmes for sustainable development and formulating strategies for knowledge management

University Education Commission (1948-49) reported that people in this country have been slow to recognize that education is a profession for which intensive preparation is necessary as it is in any other profession. This attitude of the people is still alive and not changed much. In this context teacher educators also need a strong system of professional development and ongoing support. As a professional course in Teacher Education, the M. Ed programme needs to provide an understanding and critical reflection on both theory and practice.

The two-year M.Ed. programme is designed to provide opportunities for students to extend as well as deepen their knowledge and understanding of education, specialise in select areas and also develop research capacities, leading to specialization in elementary, secondary and senior secondary education.

Programme Objectives

The broad objectives of Teacher Education programme are stated below.

After the completion of the two year programme, the student teacher would be able to

- gain insight and reflect on the concept and the status of pre-service and in-service teacher education.
- be acquainted with the content, and organisation of pre-service teacher education curriculum, infrastructure and resources needed, and the issues and problems related to teacher preparation.
- examine the existing pre-service and in-service teacher education programmes from the view point of policy and its relevance to the demands of present day school realities.
- involve in various activities and processes of a teacher education institution, in order to gain an insight in to the multiple roles of a teacher educator and understand the organisational culture.
- develop competence in organisation and evaluation of various components of a pre-service and in-service teacher education programmes.
- design in-service teacher professional development program/activities based on the needs of teachers
- critically examine the role and contribution of various agencies and regulating bodies in enhancing the quality of teacher education.
- understand and appreciate the research perspective on various practices in teacher education.

4.13 Research Dissertation and Viva-Voce

The dissertation is a compulsory component of the M.Ed programme. A dissertation is distinguished from other writing assignments in the programme on the basis of the expectations and processes involved therein. It is visualised as a curricular space where students (with guidance of a faculty member) learn to plan and conduct a research, and write a dissertation. It is also a space where students come to see and draw linkages between education theory (transacted through taught courses) and research. Thus, while the product or the outcome of this component (i.e. dissertation) is important, the process through which it is arrived at is also equally significant.

Various skills that are expected to be developed through this component include: articulating and formulating a research problem and research questions, designing a plan to study it, executing the plan (which includes engaging with the relevant body of literature and theory (/ies), analysing and writing the findings in an academic fashion, and presenting the work. The dissertation should preferably be in the area of specialisation that a student opts or in the areas introduced in the perspective courses.

While a dissertation may be submitted at the end of the Semester 4 of the programme, the process of arriving at should begin early on, ideally in the Semester 2 onwards. This also means that the assessment of this component is spread over in various stages of this process, viz., preparation and presentation of a research proposal, preparation of tools, collection of data, analysis of data, preparation of the draft and final dissertation and presenting it in a viva-voce examination. These could be in the form of special tutorials in relevant courses. All these stages should be given due weightage in the assessment of the dissertation.

Report should be approximately between 10000 to 20000 words depending upon the nature of the topic. For evaluating the Dissertation, there will be external and internal evaluation by experts followed by viva-voce. The viva-voce will be based on Research Methodology and the Dissertation. Out of the 8 credits for Dissertation component, 6 credits are for the Dissertation and 2 credits are for the viva –voce.

For dissertation average marks of Internal and external evaluation is to be taken for calculating the grade of dissertation. The internal evaluation shall be done by the supervising teachers working in the Department. The external evaluation shall be done by the teachers in the universities and teachers working in the affiliated colleges outside the university. Retired teachers in the universities/ affiliated colleges can also be included in the panel of examiners.

All the students who have appeared for the fourth semester examination and submitted the dissertation shall appear before the duly constituted board of examination for viva-voce.
